

Roman Baths Development 2007 – 2012

If you have been to the Roman Baths recently you may have noticed some exciting changes. A 5-year development plan is currently underway to ensure that the Roman Baths is an unforgettable experience for our daytime and evening visitors, as well as being more accessible.

The most noticeable change is the installation of a lift. We are now able to offer wheelchair users access to the lower museum and the Great Bath.

Additionally, the installation of new flooring in the lower museum area means that the channel linking the Roman overflow and drain is now visible. In the museum and on the Terrace new visual imagery, including projections and video footage have been installed.

This development plan will greatly enhance the Roman Baths for all. Visit the Roman Baths website, www.romanbaths.co.uk for more information about the changes.
